

Covering of costs

All costs must be covered prior to the commencement of in-patient care regardless of the insurance status of the patient.

Covering of in-patient care costs

Patient transfer/post-hospital curative treatment

Should the transfer of a patient to our clinic be intended, the transferring hospital applies for the transfer costs to be covered by the appropriate funding party.

Referral from general practitioner/ specialist

The referring physician places the application for in-patient rehabilitation or specialist treatment along with a description of the medical indications with the appropriate insurer.

Private medical insurances

The covering of costs by private insurance companies must also be approved prior to the commencement of in-patient care.

Self-paying patients

Advance payment is required on admission to the clinic for self-paying patients. This will be calculated against the accumulated actual cost of treatment at the end of treatment.

International patients

- International patients from the EU require the E-112 form from the appropriate health insurance provider in their own country prior to admission to the clinic.
- Advance payment is required for self-paying international patients which is then calculated against the accumulated actual cost of treatment at the end of treatment.
